Imagine being surrounded by the dramatic views of the Santa Catalina Mountains and the Tucson Valley while you play at one of the largest and most popular golf courses in Tucson. At the Hilton Tucson El Conquistador Golf & Tennis Resort, 45 holes of championship golf are offered on three exceptional courses. Each golf course provides challenging play for golfers of all skill levels with course enhancements by the original architect, Greg Nash, to provide the highest quality of play throughout this Southwest golf resort. Whether playing the Cañada, Conquistador or Pusch Ridge Course, each one is exciting and varies in play from each other.

Both the Canada and Conquistador courses wind through numerous stands of mesquite trees, offering a park-like feel in a desert landscape. The Conquistador is an exceptionally playable course with a lush feel. From the depth and range of the courses, golfers will quickly understand why the Hilton Tucson El Conquistador Golf & Tennis Resort has been named one of the top Arizona golf resorts in the Southwest. On Pusch Ridge, the golfer plays from elevated tees to sloping fairways and, more often than not, backs up to an elevated green. Golf at this award-winning property makes full use of the ravines and ridges, as well as indigenous cactus and trees to challenge any player.
